Emancip8 Project

The Emancip8 Project is a philanthropic initiative by the Embassy Row Project.

The Emancip8 Project unifies researchers and initiatives focused on exposing and combatting human trafficking, child abuse, and human rights violations. We empower abuse survivors and offer a networking platform with international stakeholder connectivity for activists and researchers who need a voice.

We serve activist organizations and support networks of all sizes with media outreach, press conferences and events, research distribution and stakeholder briefings, survivor connectivity to support groups, and more. The Emancip8 Project's platform offers synergistically aligned researchers and initiatives access to Embassy Row Project architecture in the following areas:

- International Government Relations
- Cyberforensics to assist law enforcement in cyber-kinetic investigations
- Legislation-focused advisory for lawmakers
- Events & Briefings that inform and educate the public
- Promotion of support networks for abuse survivors, human trafficking victims, and much more!

Against the backdrop of the Russian attack on Ukraine, we now offer academic support to the Black Sea region organizations that required data and research to qualify for grants and additional resources to assist refugees as part of humanitarian relief campaigns. The Emancip8 Project continues to extend support to organizations in need of a megaphone to inform the public and educate the legislative community on the needs of refugees and the nations in Eastern Europe who are offering shelter and relief.

ERP Launches the Emancip8 Project for Abuse and Human Trafficking Survivors

Another philanthropic project launched by the Embassy Row Project's founder James Scott, the Emancip8 Project unifies researchers and initiatives focused on exposing and combatting human trafficking, child abuse, and human rights violations. Emancip8 empowers abuse survivors and offers a networking platform with international stakeholder connectivity for activists and researchers who need a voice.

The Emancip8 Project serves activist organizations and support networks of all sizes with media outreach, press conferences and events, research distribution and stakeholder briefings, survivor connectivity to support groups, and more. Their platform offers synergistically aligned researchers and initiatives access to Embassy Row Project architecture in the following areas:

- International Government Relations
- Cyberforensics to assist law enforcement in cyber-kinetic investigations
- Legislation-focused advisory for lawmakers
- Events & Briefings that inform and educate the public
- Promotion of support networks for abuse survivors, human trafficking victims, and much more!

Against the backdrop of the Russian attack on Ukraine, the Emancip8 Project now offers academic support to the Black Sea region organizations that required data and research to qualify for grants and additional resources to assist refugees as part of humanitarian relief campaigns. This project continues to extend support to organizations in need of a megaphone to inform the public and educate the legislative community on the needs of refugees and the nations in Eastern Europe who are offering shelter and relief.

About the Embassy Row Project:

The purpose of this project is to unify synergistically aligned initiatives into a potent movement that offers grant and scholarship awardees a newfound forward momentum. That momentum is applied to upgraded and enhanced organizational architecture that cultivates growth and internationalizes peer and stakeholder connectivity. iDecarbonize, Tectonic Labz, Emancip8 Project, and Veterans for Critical Infrastructure Technology are all philanthropic projects and 100% of the services are provided free of charge.